

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The baseball championship season of the National League opened to-day.

The grip in England continues to spread, and thousands of people are down with the malady.

The natives of Portuguese Guinea have revolted and massacred the Portuguese officers and soldiers.

In a dispute over a trivial business matter Mr. D. D. Primrose shot and severely injured his son, James Primrose, in Queen Anne's county, Md.

It is said that a scheme to take Mr. Blaine on a tour through the country has been devised, and that it will probably be put into execution before the summer is ended.

The London papers comment on President Harrison's speeches as indicating a determination to stick to the McKinley tariff and to secure the whole American market.

During last year the Pennsylvania Railroad carried over 20,000,000 passengers between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and over the New Jersey division over 21,000,000.

The monks and nuns of Llanthony Abbey, in Wales, have joined the Roman Catholic Church because they were refused the sacraments by the ministers of the Established Church.

A dispatch from Port au Prince announces that Admiral Gherardi and Minister Douglas have presented credentials to President Hyppolite empowering them to treat for the cession of Mole St. Nicholas.

Colonel W. W. Dudley says the proposition to hold the republican presidential nominating convention in May of next year, instead of late in June or early in July, as heretofore, is meeting with great favor.

A gardener in the village of Albrechtshain, Germany, yesterday murdered his wife and four children with a hatchet and then hanged himself. He is supposed to have become insane through worry over financial troubles.

Dr. Jacob M. De Costa, professor of the theory and practice of medicine in Jefferson Medical College, at Philadelphia, has resigned in order to have uninterrupted opportunities to attend to his consultation practice.

Gen. Benjamin F. Butler was forcibly ejected from the U. S. District Court-room in Boston yesterday by order of Judge Carpenter for contempt and for interfering with the proceedings of the court. Judge Carpenter is the man whom Gen. Butler has characterized as an "inferior judge of an inferior court of the inferior State of Rhode Island."

President Harrison and his party had an international reception at El Paso, Texas, yesterday. Gov. Carrillo, of the State of Chihuahua, and his staff, and Gen. Rangel, of the Mexican army, participated in the reception and parade as the representatives of the President of Mexico. A salute was fired by Mexican artillery in honor of President Harrison. After two hours at El Paso the President left for Tucson, Arizona.

The wooden gunboat Pilcomayo, belonging to the Chilean insurgents, has been blown up by a government torpedo boat. The torpedo struck the gunboat fair amidships, and lifted her clean out of the water. The government claims that the entire crew of the gunboat, numbering 135 men, was lost. The rebels state that thirty of the crew, including the captain, were picked up by one of the boats of the insurgents' fleet.

Baron Fava is now accused of lapsing into translating the first Italian note communicated to Mr. Blaine. Italy demanded the "giudizio" of the lynchers, which Baron Fava wrongly translated "punishment." It is further considered that Baron Fava exaggerated the tone of the Marquis di Rudini's protest, or that he did not comprehend its meaning. Italy, it is maintained, was compelled to assume an air of decision in order not to break too suddenly the Cripple traditions in the Italian foreign policy.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The State Board of Medical Examiners is in session in Richmond.

Mr. A. M. Kiley, expects to leave Egypt about the 25th of May, and will be in Richmond in July.

In Richmond yesterday, Judge Witt bailed E. Buford Grymes, who is under indictment charging him with embezzling funds of the city.

The Richmond City Council last night adopted a resolution requesting that the remains of General Joseph E. Johnston be interred in Richmond. The resolution will be forwarded to the family of the deceased.

Borglars supplied themselves with sledges from a neighboring blacksmith shop Monday night and battered down the door of the store of Messrs. Page & Garvin at Boyce. They then blew the safe to pieces with dynamite and took $80 in cash. Several hundred dollars in checks were left untouched.

The negotiations in London between Mr. E. H. of the American committee on the Virginia debt, and Messrs. Lubbock, Liddell and Daniel, constituting the English advisory board, resulted in negotiations for a settlement of the debt based upon the plan of November, 1890, recommended by Messrs. Cleveland, Bayard, Phelps and others.

Frank C. Morgan, the young Englishman, who was sent to the penitentiary for killing Mr. Coles, of Albemarle, was discharged from the penitentiary yesterday. Gov. McKinney declined to the last to interfere, as he saw no reason why executive clemency should be granted. Morgan's plan when he left was to go to New York and to sail for England as quick as possible.

The Washington Relics.

The final sale of Washington relics, owned by Lawrence Washington, Bushrod C. Washington, Thomas B. Washington and J. R. C. Lewis, was begun in Philadelphia yesterday. The heaviest buyers were several New York dealers. The original will of John Washington, George Washington's great-grandfather, dated at Washington Parish, county of Westmoreland, in Virginia, September 11, 1675, was sold to a Mr. Collins, for $700. The will of Augustine Washington, father of George Washington, brought only $300. The only attested copy of the original will of Washington himself, to which is appended the schedule of property comprehended in the will, was sold to W. E. Benjamin, the New York dealer, for $1,400.

One of the swords of Washington was sold to W. E. Benjamin for $1100. During the civil war the sword was hid in a pigeon-hole, where it was injured by moisture that the scabbard was destroyed, and an inscription that was on the blade was obliterated. Gen. Washington's violin was sold for $355; his shoe-buckles for $250, and his cane for $50. A mourning ring that Gen. Washington wore in honor of his half-brother, Lawrence Washington, went for $180, and his mental mirror that hung in the parlor at Mt. Vernon brought $500.

An original India drawing of the destruction of the Battle, presented to Washington by Lafayette, was sold at $450. Gen. Washington's account book, kept by his secretary Mr. Dandridge, and others, from March 4, 1793, to March 25, 1797, was sold for $775.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEVITIES.

Jullia Toth, six years old, and motherless, died at Cleveland, O., yesterday from starvation. Her father had left her to seek employment.

Two thousand of the splinters who have been out on a strike at B-adford, England, for some time past, have resolved to resume work on Monday.

Geo. Whitmore, President of the National Bank, of Nephi, Utah, was lassoed out of $6,000 yesterday by gold-brick swindlers who have disappeared.

Kate Danforth, a New York actress, was shot early this morning by a man supposed to be Albert Stoll. After shooting the woman Stoll went out into the hall and shot himself in the head. Both are expected to die.

L. Piaget, of Canada, manager of a large ranch in Bexar county, Tex., sold 25,000 head of sheep and a large number of horses belonging to his employer, and has skipped to Canada. He was accompanied by a most beautiful woman named Labriche.

Municipal elections were held in a large number of places throughout Illinois yesterday. In cities where license was the issue 24 voted for it and 20 against. In other places returns indicate that the victories are pretty evenly divided among the republicans and democrats.

A west-bound freight on the Pennsylvania road was wrecked this morning at Kinzers, Pa. The cars in toppling over struck a train on the opposite track and the cars were piled up in a shapeless mass. Twenty-five cars were completely destroyed and a brakeman was instantly killed.

A Mrs. Behrendt, who two months ago left this country to visit friends in Germany, landed in New York to-day accompanied by her first husband, who had just completed a twelve months' sentence, and was met by Behrendts. A scene followed and Behrendts finally took the woman away. The first husband will be returned to Germany.

In Pittsburg, at 3:30 o'clock this morning Mrs. Mary Sullivan, aged 65, arose from the bed, secured a carving knife and made a desperate assault on her husband, who was asleep. Before the old gentleman could escape he had received a bad gash on the left side, and had one hand almost severed from the wrist. Mrs. Sullivan went up stairs and with a razor cut a terrible gash in her own throat.

A trotting horse, jumped from a moving train on the Lehigh Valley road last night, fell against a passing coal train, causing a wreck. A brakeman, the horse and a number of sheep were killed and seventeen cars demolished.

Jacob France, who was found in his yard in Baltimore last night with his throat cut, died this morning. He had previously tried to poison himself. He was 28 years old and leaves a widow and four children.

Members of the farmers alliance of Sedgwick county, Kas., are trying to formulate a plan to enable farmers to hold their grain until they want to sell. Wheat is not to be sold at less than $1 per bushel.

Frank Emerson, with his wife and child, was out driving near Lebanon, N. H., yesterday, when his horse appeared to have a fit and plunged over a bank into the Merrimack river. Mrs. Emerson was drowned.

A hot fight between W. S. Reese and J. G. Crennel for the mayoralty of Montgomery, Ala., is going on and $50,000 has been staked on the result.

George Jackson, colored, was arrested this morning at Greenville, Del., while in the act of burglarizing the post office.

Chief Justice Greene, sitting as district judge at Guthrie, Okla., has rendered a decision that women are eligible to public office.

To Divide the Diocese.

The Episcopal Convocation of Southwest Virginia, at Lynchburg, yesterday considered the question of a new diocese; that is, whether it is expedient to ask that the territory embraced within the bounds of the convocation, which includes all of the southwestern counties, and the adjacent counties of Augusta, Nelson, Amherst, Campbell and Pittsylvania, so as to take in the cities of Staunton, Lynchburg and Danville, shall be set apart as a separate diocese.

The convocation recommends that the counties of Highland, Augusta, Nelson, Amherst, Campbell, Pittsylvania, Henry, Franklin, Bedford, Rockbridge, Bath, Allegheny, Botetourt, Craig, Roanoke, Pulaski, Wythe, Smyth, G. Mason, Frazier, Wise, Scott, Buchanan, Dickenson, Russell, Washington and Lee be cut off into a separate diocese, and that the vestries of the several parishes in this territory instruct their delegates to the council to sign a petition to this effect.

Gen. Fitzugh Lee.

Among the visitors at the "Cyclorama of Gettysburg" yesterday the famous Confederate General of cavalry was conspicuous. In the portly, quiet and courteous gentleman one would find it difficult to recognize the brilliant leader who charged the Union cavalry so fiercely at "Rummel's Farm" during the third day's fight at Gettysburg. The General told many incidents of that fight, and in conversation with some of the veterans present he shed a new light on that great cavalry battle between Gen. Gregg's division of our army and the division commanded by Gen. Stewart, of the Confederates, that took place on our right at the same time that Pickett's charge was in progress on our left centre.—Phila. Record.

THE WORLD GOING TO SMASH—A new religious sect has sprung up in Pike county Pa. The members call themselves the "anticipators." Zechariah Myers, a farmer, is the founder, and already the membership is large and increasing every day. Within the last two months a big stampede has set in and the evangelical churches are severely crippled. Mr. Myers says that one day last fall, while he was plowing in his field, a big cloud appeared in front of him. From the cloud came a voice. Mr. Myers trembled, but the spirit bade him not to fear. The spirit spoke as follows: "Be fore the century closes the world will end and man shall be no more. Tell thy people to prepare. Tell them not to wait an hour. There must be everlasting prayer. The world is wicked; it is reeking in its own corruption. There must be an end to all sin." An organization followed. Circles are being prepared embodying all the doctrines and dogmas of the "new faith." These circles will be sent to the pope, bishops, priests, and preachers imploring them to renounce their worldly religion and join the anticipators.

DIED.

At three o'clock this morning, Mr. JANE LLOYD, aged 74 years. The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock Thursday evening, the 23d instant, from the Free Methodist Chapel, on Lee street.

On the 20th, JACOB ROXBURY, in the 77th year of his age. His new friends are invited to attend the funeral on to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon, at two o'clock, from his late residence, 1107 Prince street.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

Foreign News.

ROME, April 22.—Baron Fava, the Italian Minister at Washington, has arrived here. Immediately after the Baron's arrival he had a prolonged conference with the Marquis di Rudini upon the New Orleans affair. The outcome of this conference has not transpired.

MADRID, April 22.—Grave anxiety is felt here over the state of affairs in Portugal. Fears are expressed that a revolution is about to break out, in which event the lives of foreign subjects will be endangered.

PARIS, April 22.—Representations have again been made to Emperor William of Germany asking him to relax the passport regulations in force in Alsace-Lorraine in order to enable the inhabitants of French towns on the German border to attend the fairs held in German territory. The Emperor has refused to accede to the representations made to him.

LONDON, April 22.—The decline in the prices of wheat in America yesterday distinctly checked the buyers of wheat here, and they are holding off pending developments. Indian wheat is weaker. Russian red is steady. Corn is steady but dull. Nothing is doing in American corn.

The President's Trip.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 22.—The train bearing the Presidential party arrived here last night. The President was received at each place on the route by military salutes and was heartily cheered. National colors were conspicuous everywhere. The President made a short speech at Deming, in which he made an important announcement. He said: "I feel great interest in your people, and thinking that you have labored under a disadvantage by reason of an unsettled state of your land titles, it was my pleasure to urge upon Congress in both a general and special message the establishment of a special land court to settle this question once for all. I expect to announce the judges of that court, and to set them immediately to work upon these cases so that you shall certainly within two years have all these questions settled." The Presidential party had a royal reception at Tucson, which was brilliantly illuminated.

INDIO, Cal., April 22.—The Presidential party entered the State of California at Fort Yuma at 4:50 o'clock this morning. When the party reached Indio it was received by a large delegation, including Governor Markham and staff. Governor Markham made an address of welcome on behalf of the people of the State, to which the President made a suitable response, and afterward shook hands with a large number of people.

Fatal Ending to a Dispute.

FRESNO, Cal., April 22.—Sylvester Triado and Francisco Olives fought a duel yesterday at Cantua Canyon, twenty miles from here. Olives was killed and Triado has been arrested. The men had had numerous disputes about trespassing cattle and finally agreed to fight it out. Both were armed with revolvers and commenced firing at each other at a distance of 40 yards. They closed in and at 20 yards Triado sent a bullet through Olives's neck.

A Mayoralty Muddle.

CLINTONVILLE, Wis., April 22.—At the late election Melike was chosen Mayor over Bantz by a majority. A recount resulted in a tie. Melike refused to recognize the recount, but, taking the oath of office he called the council together and made his appointments. Meanwhile the previous mayor, F. M. Guernsey, refuses to vacate his duties as mayor until his successor is legally chosen. The matter may find its way into the courts.

Big Fire.

ROME, N. Y., April 22.—A monster fire broke out here at 12:35 to 3:30, and the destruction of the city is threatened. It originated in an undertaking establishment and spread with such rapidity that it was soon beyond the control of the fire department. So far two hotels, a barbershop, liquor store and about a dozen private establishments have been swept away.

A DELIBERATE MURDER.—The woman

found dead with her throat cut at Park avenue and Ninety-sixth street, New York city, about midnight Saturday night, has been identified as Mrs. Emily Taylor, a widow, who did laundry work and lived in an apartment house on Third avenue. Henry C. Fanning, a married man, who had lived with her until recently, has been arrested on the affidavit of Albert McMillen, his room-mate, who says Fanning told him he went out walking with the woman and asked her to allow him to see a scar on her neck where he had cut her previously. She did so, and, quick as a flash, he plunged a razor into the flesh and cut the jugular vein and windpipe.

The New Orleans Grand Jury.

Between two and three hundred citizens were summoned before the New Orleans grand jury yesterday to give evidence in regard to the killing of the Italians at the Parish Prison last month. The report of the grand jury will be a long and exhaustive one, and it is understood, will give the full history of the Mafia in New Orleans, showing when and how it originated in New Orleans, and the large number of Italian criminals who have emigrated to New Orleans. It will also reveal the murder of Hennessey and the facts leading to it, and show the views and motives which induced the people to take the law into their own hands. The report is likely to be a strong presentation of the citizens' side of the case as explanatory of the fact that the grand jury has refused to find indictments against the men engaged in the lynching.

ALEXANDRIA, VA. WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 22.

THE AVOWED objects of the Farmers' Alliance don't materialize. The members of the Alliance had a large majority in the legislature of South Carolina, but that body adjourned without adopting any of the measures recommended in the State platform of the Alliance. The Alliance people also had a majority in the Minnesota legislature, and now, that body, too, has adjourned, leaving all of the Alliance bills unpassed. There is nothing like understanding, and when ordinary men have the absurdity of such propositions as the sub-treasury, fiat money, government control of railroads and telegraphs, and the like, explained to them understandingly, they naturally refuse to impugn their own understanding by enacting such propositions into laws.

PRESIDENT McGRATH, of the northern Farmers' Alliance, threatens the southern members of that organization with the return of the northern members to the republican party unless they, the southern members, desert the democracy. If M. Peffer, the Alliance U. S. Senator from Kansas, be a true representative of the northern Alliance, that organization is in favor of the Force bill; therefore, those southern members of the Alliance who may be induced by Mr. McGrath's threat to desert the democracy, will prove that they not only have no interest in the welfare of their State and section, but that they care nothing for their own individual prosperity.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is not as much of an anti-silver man now as formerly. He said in an interview yesterday that he had been disappointed in the effect of both the first and the second silver bills, and that by the time a new silver bill could come before him, if he should be re-elected President, conditions might be so changed that he would not deem it advisable to veto it. The President, up to this time, has been entirely right on the silver question, and yesterday's interview also the first sign of change or shadow of turning; but "when self the wavering balance holds it is rarely right adjusted."

WHILE THE President is telling the ex-Confederates how glad he is to take them by the hand, that hygeenes should be hygeenes, and that in case of war with a foreign country they would be among the readiest to defend the old flag, the party that will renominate him met in convention, through its national league clubs at Cincinnati yesterday, and signified its sectional feeling by singing "Marching Through Georgia," "John Brown's Body" and other northern war songs. If any southern seceders were among the delegates they must have felt even smaller than they do when at home.

THOUGH DIVIDED on the subject of the new republican Presidential nominee, the delegates to the national convention of republican clubs in Cincinnati are as united on the subject of a high protective tariff and the Force bill. The Harrison and Blaine delegates were at each other's throats yesterday, but so far as negro domination in the South and compelling southern farmers to sell in the cheapest and buy in the dearest markets are concerned, they were of one accord, and that, strange as it may seem, though some of the white delegates hail from the South.

PRESIDENT HARRISON says "the defeat of the Confederacy brought ex-Confederates blessings that would otherwise have been impossible." And yet Mr. Harrison, if as well informed as a man holding his position ought to be, should know that life in the South before the war, even that of the negroes, Uncle Tom's Cabin to the contrary, was a paradise on earth, the blessings of which have rarely been equaled, never excelled, and which will never again be experienced as long as the world shall continue to have as dense a population as it now has.

GEN. B. F. BUTLER was forcibly ejected from the U. S. court room in Boston yesterday, having previously been prohibited by the Judge from opening his mouth therein. He shed crocodile tears at what he called the indignity that had been put upon him; but he only got his deserts. Age brings no respect to Gen. Butler, nor should it. An old man who has forfeited respect is infinitely worse than a young one who has done likewise. There is hope of amendment for the latter, but none for the former.

FROM WASHINGTON.

(Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.) WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22, 1891.

One of the liveliest men on Pennsylvania avenue to-day was Col. John Powell, who was 87 years of age yesterday. The Colonel is a native of Fairfax county, Va., but lived in Alexandria immediately after the retrocession of that city to Virginia, and was one of the first magistrates of that city appointed under the Virginia law, receiving his commission from Gov. Wm. Smith. His first Presidential vote was cast for Gen. Jackson. The remains of W. F. Kerfoot, formerly a congressional committee clerk here, but more recently a clerk in the educational bureau at Richmond, were carried through here last week, for interment, to Clarke county, Va., of which county the deceased was a native and for a long time a resident.

One thousand men are now employed in the work of repairing the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal between Georgetown and Cumberland. The canal people don't anticipate any trouble from the old Brady claim now before the Maryland court.

Senators Barbour and Daniel are both in the city to-day, but the latter, with his family, will leave to-morrow for his home in Lynchburg.

If Mr. Blaine be not a candidate for the Presidential nomination
